

I do not feel telemarketing has a place in the home. If a seller has something to say, there is still a US Postal Service. I resent the calls as an intrusion on my privacy and time. The Do Not Call List is the best thing to happen.

Telemarketing calls are like pop up ads on the computer - annoying, they try to trip you up, they don't take no for an answer.

Please do not destroying the do not call list.

Thank you.
